Significant Contributions to your Field

- March 2009 Janes, Craig R. and Kitty K. Corbett (2009). Anthropology and Global Health. Annual Reviews of Anthropology, forthcoming (October, 2009).
 In this article we provide the first extended review of the contributions of medical anthropology to global health research and practice. The review includes some discussion of key theoretical and definitional issues, and charts the path for future work in the field. The article has been reprinted in a major edited collection of "classic" readings in medical anthropology (Byron Good, Michael M.J. Fisher, and Sarah Willen (2010), eds., A Reader in Medical Anthropology: Theoretical Trajectories, Emergent Realities, pp. 405-421. Blackwell.)
- 2008 Janes, Craig R. An Ethnographic Evaluation of Post-Alma Ata Health System Reforms in Mongolia: Lessons for Addressing Health Inequities in Poor Communities. IN Robert Hahn and Marcia Inhorn (Eds.). Anthropology in Public Health. 2d Edition. New York: Oxford University Press.
 In this article I summarize the full extent of my research on health reform in Mongolia, generalizing this work to other transitional economies, and to ethical perspectives on health reform more generally. This chapter is published in a key text used in medical anthropology and public health programs in Europe and North America.
- 2006 Inhorn, Marcia and Craig R. Janes. The behavioral research agenda in global health: An advocate's legacy. Global Public Health, forthcoming.
 Review of the contributions of global health pioneer Fredrick L. Dunn to social/behavioral research on communicable and parasitic diseases.
- 2006 Janes, Craig R. (2006). Invited Commentary: 'Culture', cultural explanations and causality. International Journal of Epidemiology, 35(2): 261-263.
 Critique of the concept of culture as it is applied in contemporary epidemiology.

- 2006 Janes, Craig R., Oyuntsetseg Chuluundorj, Casey E. Hilliard, Khulan Janchiv and Kimberly Rak. (2006). Poor Medicine for Poor People? Assessing the Impact of Neoliberal Reform on Health Care Equity in a Post-Socialist Context. Global Public Health, 1(1): 1-22.
Critique of the neoliberal health reform agenda, pointing out that by virtue of problematic starting assumptions it produces significant health inequities.
- 2004 Janes, Craig R. (2004). Going Global in Century XXI: Medical Anthropology and the New Primary Health Care. Human Organization, 63: 457-471.
Analysis of the contributions of anthropology to global health.
- 2004 Janes, Craig R. and Oyuntsetseg Chuluundorj. (2004). Free Markets and Dead Mothers: The Social Ecology of Maternal Mortality in Post-Socialist Mongolia. Medical Anthropology Quarterly, 18(2): 102-129.
Social-epidemiologic study of maternal mortality, arguing that the poor underlying health of women, in addition to the disintegration of health services, led to an epidemic of maternal mortality. Incorporated as a case study into the 2005 World Health Report published by the World Health Organization.
- 2002 Janes, Craig R. (2002). Buddhism, Science, and Market: The Globalization of Tibetan Medicine. Anthropology and Medicine, 9(3): 267-289.
Examines the impact of globalization on indigenous medicine in a context of ethnic conflict.
- 1999 Janes, Craig R. (1999). The Health Transition and the Crisis of Traditional Medicine: The Case of Tibet. Social Science and Medicine, 48: 1803-1820.
